Giraffiel's Dilemma

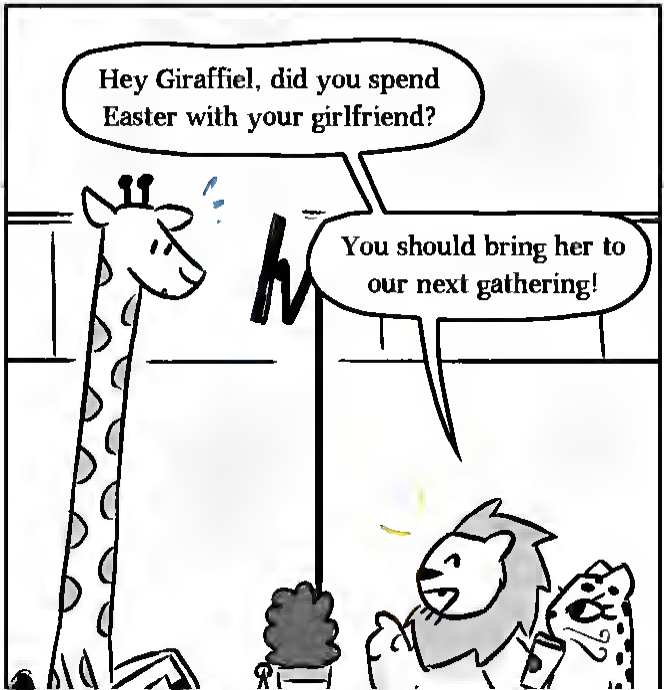
Welcome back to the RSJ base!
Hope everyone had a great Easter holiday!

Hi Leo and Cheetah-B!

Yea, I had a great time with Tortis!

We had a great time too, didn't we?

Yeah, except the ferry.



Hey Giraffiel, did you spend Easter with your girlfriend?
You should bring her to our next gathering!

Um... I spent Easter with my family.
...It didn't work out between me and her.
Oh - sorry to know that.
I'm sure you will find another great girl!

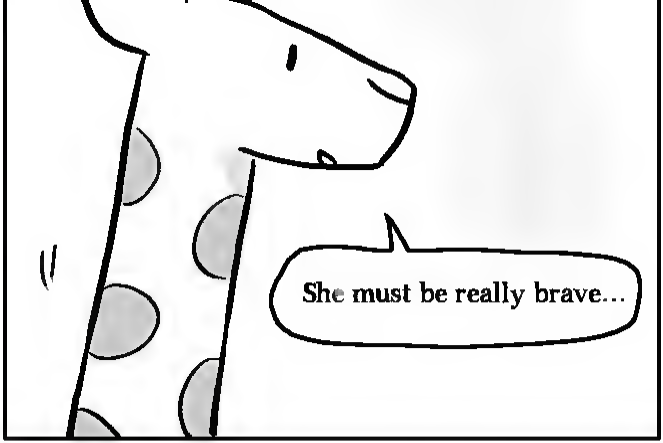
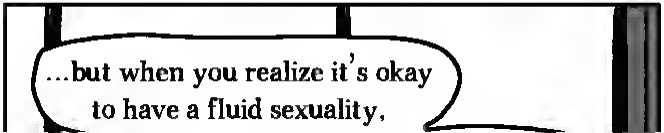
Let's double check the notes...

The interviewee is an award winning film director.
Yeah, she's pretty amazing.
She's openly gay and her homosexual themed film won the Academic Award.



She must be really brave...

Can you share with us how did the experience of your own sexuality inspires the film?
Well, I struggled with my sexual orientation just like most gays did...



...but when you realize it's okay to have a fluid sexuality, you start to allow yourself to explore other parts of your sexuality.

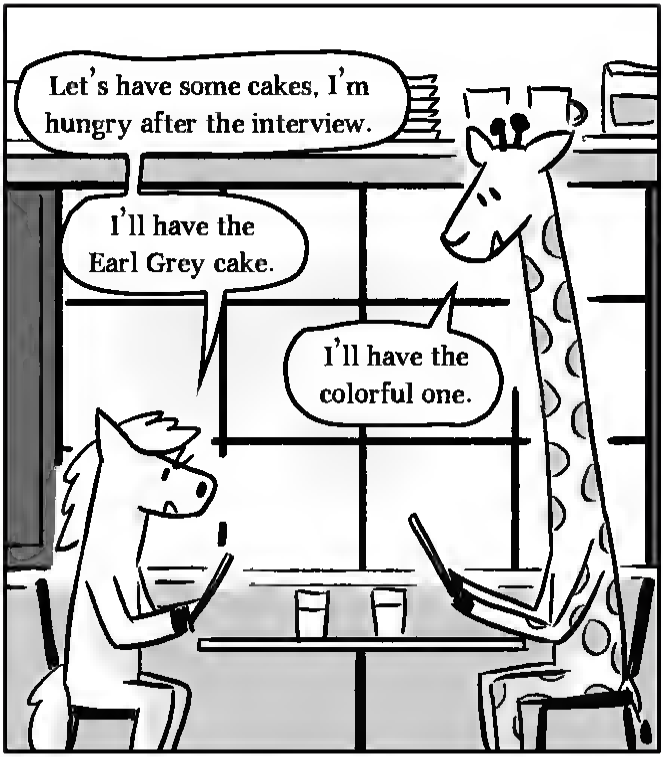
It's an adventure of self exploration.



Let's have some cakes, I'm hungry after the interview.
I'll have the Earl Grey cake.
I'll have the colorful one.

Self exploration...
I think the director was really brave to face her sexuality and come out.
Yeah, and she even made a film about that!

Horsie... have you ever doubted your sexuality?

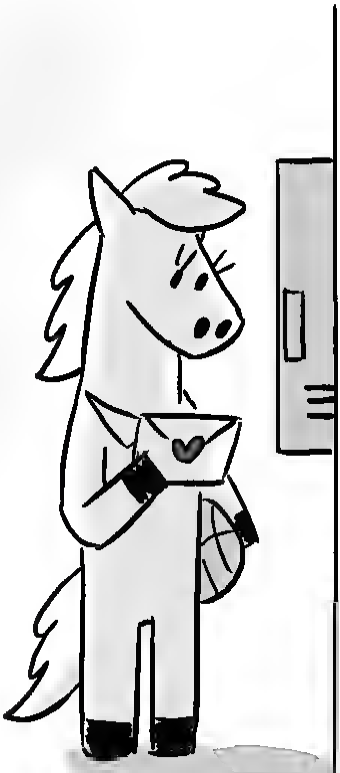
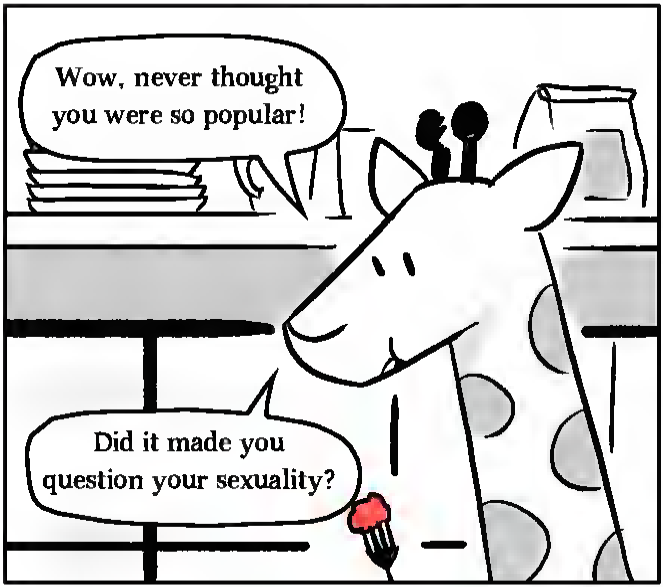
I'm not sure...

I guess so?

Back then I wasn't attracted to anyone. I just like to be friends with boys.
I'm boyish and straightforward, I can't stand girly girls.

Then there was a time in secondary school when I received an admiration letter from a girl.





Wow, never thought you were so popular!
Did it made you question your sexuality?

Well... I gave a thought about the idea of being with a girl, it didn't disgust me but it didn't attract me either.

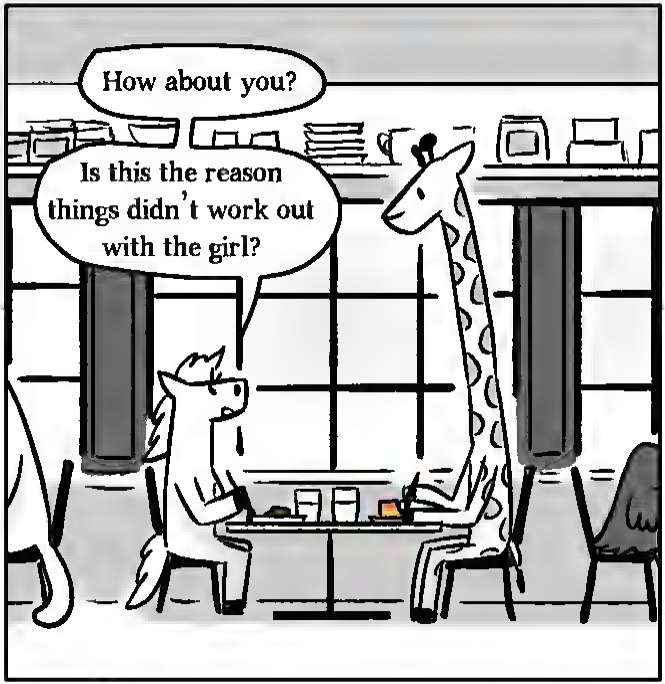
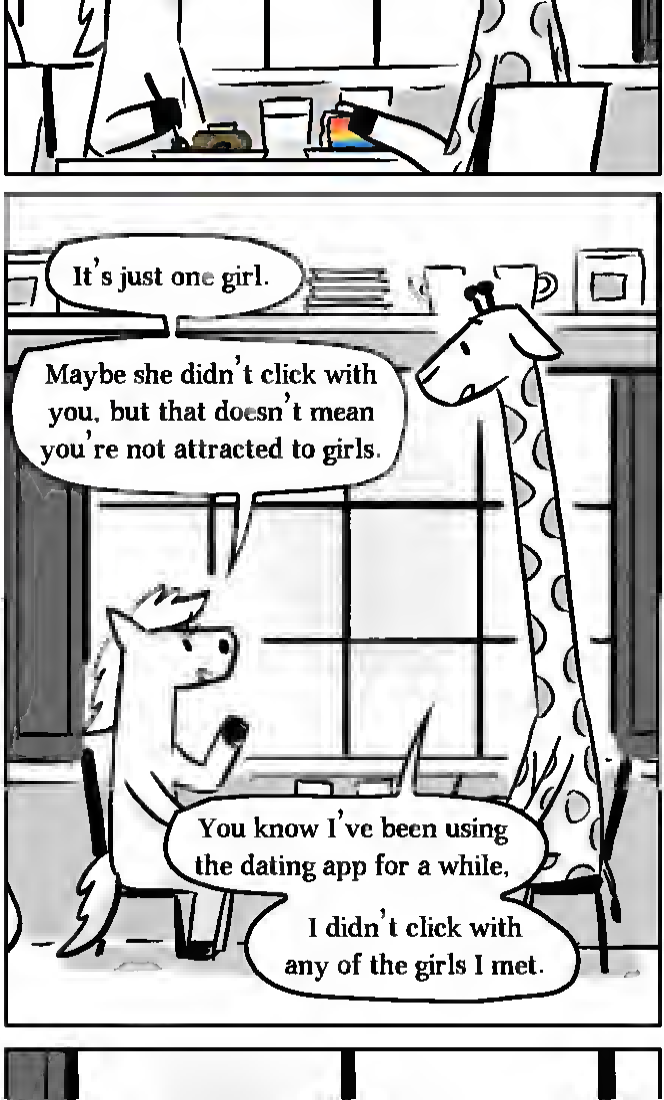
All my crushes were guys, so I should be on the straight side.



How about you?
Is this the reason things didn't work out with the girl?

I don't know...
She's really nice and sweet, we were happy together... but I just didn't get the spark.

I feel like we are good friends... that's all.
It made me think that... am I not attracted to girls?

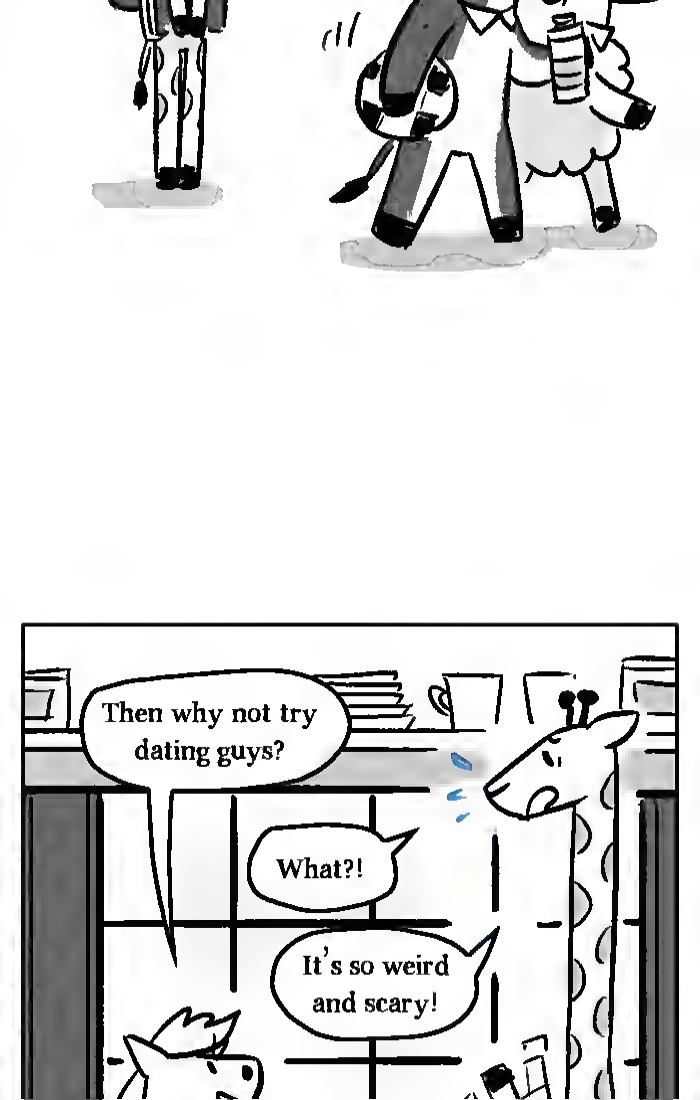


It's just one girl.
Maybe she didn't click with you, but that doesn't mean you're not attracted to girls.
You know I've been using the dating app for a while,
I didn't click with any of the girls I met.

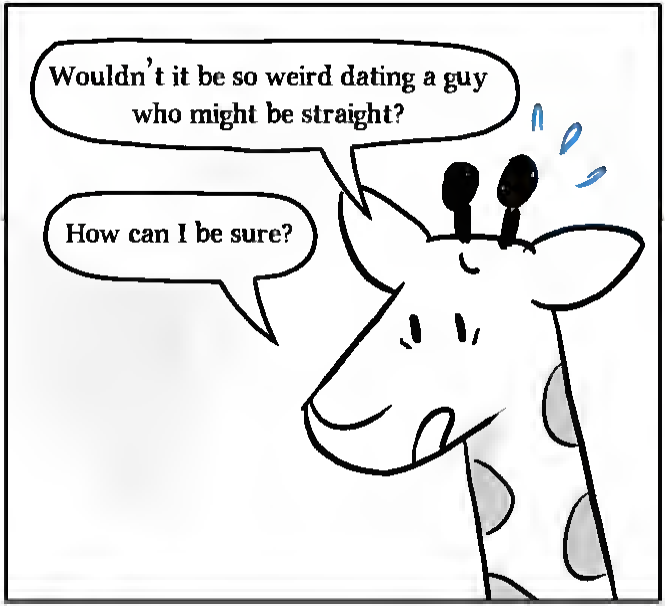
Hmm... were you ever attracted to guys?

When I was younger, I had crushes on girls...

...and sometimes boys.



Then why not try dating guys?
What?!
It's so weird and scary!



Wouldn't it be so weird dating a guy who might be straight?
How can I be sure?

I'm just suggesting.

Doesn't hurt to try.
Gay is not the majority but it's not a crime

I don't know...
ughhhhhhhh
hhh
It's so annoying, I'd rather be single forever!

I am not a typical girly girl,

and you are not a typical manly guy.

I like to befriend guys,

you like being around girl friends.

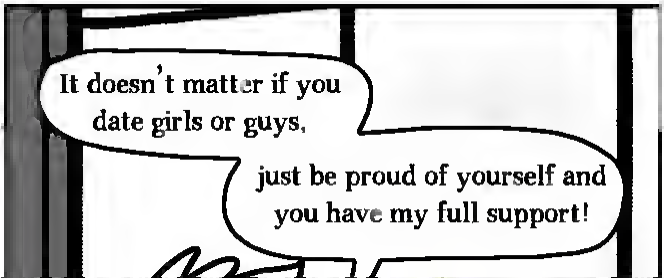
I hate girly hobbies,

you seem to enjoy them more than me.

SALE
Just kill me...
...

Yeah...
I'm so weird.

No, you're not weird, you're unique...
...we are unique.
...Really?



It doesn't matter if you date girls or guys,
just be proud of yourself and you have my full support!

Thanks Horsie...
I feel better now.
